Edouard Delaunay's 2018 Clos de Vougeot Grand Cru holds nothing back, giving you plenty to talk about and enjoy. This red Bourgogne's alluring and abundant aroma suggests a cherry and black berry jam teamed up with red licorice, mint and eucalyptus. This pinot noir feels silky, dessert dry and tilts to full-bodied. I particularly like how this Grand Cru tastes. Its flavours are in no rush to leave as they share with you cherries, berries, stacks of herbal goodness and sweet spices.

Plenty to talk about and enjoy in this wine? Absolutely. This is a gorgeous wine from the team leading Edouard Delaunay's rebirth in Bourgogne

93 Vougeot Premier Cru Les Petits Vougeots 2018

The 2018 Edouard Delaunay "Les Petits Vougeots" is a charismatic pinot noir. Its collection of aromas is what I particularly like about this wine. They evoke red berries, pressed flowers, sweet spices and nuttiness and they don't run for the exits. They linger. Delightful.

This red Bourgogne has supple texture with light touch tannins on a medium bodied frame. Its gorgeous flavours suggest warm but not jammy red berries, cinnamon as well as a spice and woodsy character. This wine is a beautiful creation from the team leading Edouard Delaunay's rebirth in Bourgogne.

93 Nuits-Saint-Georges Premier Cru Aux Chaignots 2018

The 2018 Edouard Delaunay "Aux Chaignots" Premier Cru is a pleasurable trip from the instant it is poured into your glass. This pinot noir's expressive, lingering aromas evoke fresh red field berries, sweet clove, dark chocolate, woodsy and herbal tea. And there's more. This red's pleasingly dry, supple texture offers you a stunning assortment of flavours - like sweet spices, cherries and dark chocolate – that love being in the limelight because they are in no hurry to dissipate.

93 Meursault Le Village 2018

All kinds of goodness emerge from Edouard Delaunay's 2018 Meursault Le Village. This white Burgundy feels pleasingly textured, creamy and extra dry with a right touch vibrant acidity. What stood out for me was its dense aromas reminiscent of fresh green apples, zippy tangerines, lemon zest plus some attention seeking honey, biscuit and nuttiness. This wine has charisma. 92 Chassagne-Montrachet Le Village 2018

The Edouard Delaunay 2018 Chassagne Montrachet "Le Village" is a trip for the senses. This white Burgundy is aromatically stunning, showing a citrusy, nutty, biscuit and a light touch butteriness profile in my glass. It feels gently textured, mid weight and wonderfully desert dry with a vibrant acidity. The flavours are fresh and citrusy but have some pleasing nuttiness and minerality undertones, too. Hold on in order to enjoy its lingering finish. This delicious wine deserves a curtain call.

92 Septembre Bourgogne Pinot Noir 2019

The 2019 Septembre made my senses happy. This pinot noir has stunning aromas, like candied cherries teamed up with assorted cooking spices. It feels elegant, silky and dry with light touch tannins. On the flavour front, it features fresh and delicious red berries. Oak influences have subtle supporting roles in this red, meaning the grapes are the main attraction (this is a plus in my books). Speaking of attractions, I offer applause to whoever designed the landscape image gracing this wine's label. It is beautiful. Uncork this bottle with charcuterie. Enjoy.
